

The Ferrets Magazine Newswire, July 25, 2008

Russ Prater memorial; ferret's bus pass revoked; black-footed ferrets in Arizona zoo; legality of ferret ownership.

Posted: July 25, 2008, 5:15 p.m. EDT

Another Loss For The Ferret Community

Russ Prater, a longtime ferret enthusiast who helped many ferret owners with helpful advice, died in early July. A website was created in his memory. Click to visit the site>>

Therapy Ferret's Bus Pass Revoked

A disabled woman in Ontario, Canada, filed a complaint because the local bus service revoked her ferret's bus pass. The ferret helps minimize or avoid her panic attacks. Read article 1>> Read article 2>>

Arizona Zoo Successfully Breeds Black-Footed Ferrets

The Phoenix Zoo has successfully bred 22 black-footed ferrets so far this year, the Arizona Republic reports. Read the article>>

The Law & Ferrets

Ferret ownership isn't legal everywhere, and laws can be confusing, the Ithaca Journal reports. Read the article>>