

The Weekly Ferrets Magazine Newswire - December 19, 2008

Giving Tree Ferrets; Stolen Ferrets; Black-Footed Ferrets; Ferrets In Inkheart.

Posted: December 19, 2008 3:15 p.m. EST

Giving Tree For Ferrets

The goal of the Ferret Giving Tree is to have people send gifts to ferrets living in shelters. Read Now>>

Ferrets Stolen From Farm In The United Kingdom

Ten ferrets are stolen from Featherbed Farm near Upchurch in Kent, reports the Kent News (UK). Read Now>>

Plans Move Forward To Release Black-Footed Ferrets In Colorado

A new release site has been set for black-footed ferrets in Colorado, with the first release scheduled for fall 2009, reports The Gazette. Read Now>>

Black-Footed Ferret Makes The World Wildlife Fund Endangered List

The World Wildlife Fund released its annual list of threatened species, and the black-footed ferret placed sixth on the list. Read Now>>

Paul Bettany Talks About Inkheart

Paul Bettany does a video interview about Inkheart, a fantasy movie coming out in January 2009. Inkheart is a complicated children's story that has a character with a pet being played by ferrets, reports Digital Spy. View Now>>

Man Awaits Sentencing For Animal Cruelty

A California man awaits sentencing after pleading guilty to felony charges of animal cruelty. More than 100 animals were malnourished or died, including ferrets. Read Now>>

Firefighters Rescue Ferret From A Fence

A wandering albino ferret got trapped in a fence and was freed by a team of firefighters, reports the Yorkshire Evening Post (UK). Read Now>>

Ferret Shelter Operators Named Everyday Heroes

The operators of the Ferret Dreams Rescue And Adoption in Colorado were named Everyday Heroes by the local television station, reports The DenverChannel.com. Read Now>>