

The Weekly Ferrets Magazine Newswire - January 16, 2009

Flooded Ferret Shelter; Phony Vet; Vick VapoRub; Inkheart; Michigan Rescue; Presidential Pets; Pet Insurance.

Posted: January 16, 2009, 10:15 p.m. EST

Update On Flooded Washington Ferret Shelter

The Ferret City Shelter And Rescue has posted photos and further information about the flood damage suffered and the status of the ferrets that were at the shelter. Read Now>>

Phony Veterinarian Duped Pet Owners In New Jersey

A con man dressed as a woman and pretended to be a veterinarian and animal rescuer, reports The Daily Journal. Read Now>>

Ferrets And Vicks VapoRub

Interesting results arise from researchers tests of Vicks VapoRub on ferrets, reports The Los Angeles Times. Read Now>>

Paul Bettany In Inkheart

Actor Paul Bettany discusses some of his movie roles, including his part in Inkheart where he dealt with ferrets, reports MoviesOnline. Read Now>>

Michigan Exotic Animal Rescue

Exotic pets like ferrets, hedgehogs and parrots are have been helped for eight years by the Romeo Exotic Animal Placement rescue, reports The Romeo Observer. Read Now>>

Presidential Pets

The Obama search for a dog brings to mind past presidential pets, reports Forbes.com. Read Now>>

Pet Insurance On The Rise In Japan

The percentage of Japanese pet owners who have pet insurance is low, but on the rise, reports Japan Today. Read Now>>