

The SmallAnimalChannel Weekly Newswire - March 13, 2009

Stay up-to-date with the latest small animal news from all around the world.

Posted: March 13, 2009, 8:15 p.m. EDT

Classroom Bunnies Missing

A California teacher and her students are hoping that missing bunnies will be returned, reports The Mercury News. Read Now>>

Rabbit Owner Sought

Animal control officers in South Windsor, Connecticut, are seeking the owners of a rabbit that was found wandering the streets, reports WTIC.com. Read Now>>

Rabbit Thefts In UK

Police warn residents of Pickersleigh, Worcester, UK, to guard their pet rabbits, as rabbit thefts continue, reports Malvern Gazette (UK). Read Now>>

Oldest Rabbit?

A rabbit in England could dethrone the current record holder as the oldest rabbit in the world, reports TimesOnline (UK). Read Now>>

Rabies Warning In Kansas

Nine confirmed rabies cases in wild animals prompt animal shelter officials in Kansas to warn pet owners to have pets vaccinated, reports KSALink.com. Read Now>>

Hedgehog-Inspired Sandwich Could Win $25,000

An 8-year-old girl's hedgehog-inspired sandwich made her a finalist in the JIF Most Creative Peanut Butter Sandwich contest, reports the Journal Sentinel. Read Now>>

Skunk Smell Closes Library

A library in Pennsylvania was closed for two weeks because the smell of skunk permeated the building, reports MSNBC. Read Now>>

Skunk Behavior At The Beach

A biologist's 4-year study reveals surprising wild skunk behavior and habits, reports The Martha's Vineyard Times. Read Now>>

Pet Industry News

A report by Packaged Facts indicates that the pet industry should weather the recession well, reports MSNBC. Read Now>>

For ferret news, click here>>